H.S.H.
Prince Albert II
of Monaco

Since 2013 and with the support of the International Olympic Committee, the United Nations declared April 6 the International Day of Sport for Development and Peace.

Peace and Sport has been an active leader of the global mobilization. This celebration is naturally anchored in the values promoted by the Principality and in its commitment to advocate the use of sport as a tool for sustainable peace.

Sport is a major driving force which acts to empower women, young people and communities as well as being a catalyst to achieve further objectives of health, education, dialogue and social inclusion. Its contribution to construct a more peaceful world has been officially recognized by the United Nations as part of the 2030 Agenda. April 6 has become a unique opportunity to join the peace-through sport movement and celebrate the positive social impact of sport.

I would like to express my gratitude to all the organizations and the individuals worldwide having endorsed the #WhiteCard, an international symbol of peace on April 6. I welcome their initiatives and their enthusiastic commitment to use sport to build a more equitable and peaceful world.

Joël Bouzou,
President and Founder
of Peace and Sport

This year, Peace and Sport celebrated the 6th International Day of Sport for Development and Peace (IDSDP) on April 6th with inspiring events all around the world. We initiated the mobilization with the launch of the 2019 #WhiteCard digital campaign on the island of Cyprus. On this occasion, we sent a message with Didier Drogba, Peace and Sport Vice-President, to the international community calling for a global and massive mobilization around the symbol of the #WhiteCard. The record-breaking digital mobilization successfully ended in FISE Hiroshima reaching 98 million people worldwide on social media.

Thanks to the neutrality of Monaco, the universality of sport and the unfailing support of H.S.H. Prince Albert II of Monaco, we have been able to mobilize Governments, Heads of State, International Organizations, International Federations, National Olympic Committees, Champions for Peace and Olympians worldwide. This edition was marked by outstanding celebrations with a final countdown of 1 150 projects in 136 countries from 5 different continents registered on the www.april6.org platform.

Finally, I would like to emphasise the importance of promoting the positive power of sport all year long and building long-standing synergies to maximize the reach of sport for positive change. Thanks to everyone for rallying together for April 6 and for your contribution to expanding the sport-for development-and-peace movement.

Didier Drogba,
Vice President
of Peace and Sport

It was a great pleasure for me to officially launch the 2019 #WhiteCard campaign from the island of Cyprus in March. Since 2014, this digital initiative created by Peace and Sport has been rooted in the International Day of Sport for Development and Peace and it has generated global participation from a variety of stakeholders.

This year the #WhiteCard went more viral than ever. Following a Friendly Football Day that brought together players from the Greek Cypriot Nea Salamina Ammochostou FC and Turkish Cypriot Magusa Türk Gücü FC and children from both communities to launch the campaign, a massive mobilisation took place on social media. In an unprecedented way, national and international sports institutions and athletes used their influence to send a message of peace through the #WhiteCard.

The 2019 #WhiteCard was a wonderful tool to mobilize people and to spread a message of peace, of hope and of solidarity on social media and I hope that the values incarnated by the campaign will grow bigger and anywhere in the world in the coming months. I invite all of you to look over this report to see for yourself the impact of the mobilization.

Peace and Sport, l'Organisation pour la Paix par le Sport, is an international, neutral and independent organization based in Monaco which promotes peace using the power of sport. Founded in 2007 by Modern Pentathlon Olympic Medallist and World Champion Joël Bouzou, Peace and Sport is under the High Patronage of H.S.H. Prince Albert II of Monaco.

The organization uses the structured practice of sport as a tool to build sustainable peace by educating young generations about positive values and promoting social transformation and dialogue among communities.

As part of Peace and Sport's commitment to maximize awareness about the potential of sport for positive social change, the organization launched the #WhiteCard digital campaign and the www.april6.org platform in 2014. These initiatives aim at creating a global movement for the International Day of Sport for Development and Peace and highlight the positive power of sport.

The celebration of this symbolic day and the growth of the sport-for-development-and-peace movement legitimize and demonstrate that sport is a cost-effective tool to create more peaceful, fair and equal societies.

THE ORIGIN OF APRIL6

On 23 August 2013 the UN General Assembly with the support of the International Olympic Committee declared April 6th as the International Day of Sport for Development and Peace (IDSDP) at the United Nations Headquarters in New York. This decision represented a historic step in recognizing the transformative power of sport and its boundless potential to advance positive social change.

April6.org is an online platform created by Peace and Sport that encourages, promotes and records symbolic worldwide events and sport-based initiatives carried out by a variety of different stakeholders from all around the world to celebrate the International Day of Sport for Development and Peace.

POWERED BY

A WFP COMPANY

The #WhiteCard is a worldwide digital campaign created by Peace and Sport that promotes the positive and constructive values of sport. Every year the #WhiteCard campaign reaches millions of people through social media. Holding up a #WhiteCard, just like a referee, has been recognized as the symbol of the peace-through-sport movement. In contrast to the red card, which signifies the most serious offense in sport, the #WhiteCard is a gesture of inclusion, equality and peace.

Symbolically, the #WhiteCard enables sport organizations, international institutions, governments, athletes and civil society to take action and promote themselves within the sport-for-development-and-peace movement and identify themselves as being socially aware and committed.

TESTIMONIES

NICOLAS PINTUS, FOUNDER
RUN FOR AUTISM

“We have organized the ‘Run for Autism’ race to inform people about the disability, and prove that sport is a great tool for the integration of people with disabilities. April6 has a huge meaning for us as we think that sport means peace and it can also be used to reduce discrimination.”

TEJ GURUNG, CHAIRMAN
EX-SPORTSMAN FORUM NEPAL

“The main objective of organizing this event for April6 is to make aware both political leaders as well as civic society about the value of sports in the modern society.”

CHRISTIAN NDOTAH,
PUBLIC INFORMATION OFFICER JISSPD

“Sport is the best way to convey messages of peace, tolerance, living together and reconciliation in a country that has seen the worst atrocities. Football and basketball are the king sports in our country and April6 is a great opportunity to get the message across.”

ORI EISEN, FOUNDER - BALL TO ALL

“The April 6th celebration is the pinnacle of showing how sport can bring us all together and create an atmosphere of understanding worldwide. ‘Ball to All’ prides itself in saying that we can create world peace, one soccer ball at a time.”

NOVA ALEXANDER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
SACRED SPORTS FOUNDATION INC

“Being part of April6 gives us the opportunity to promote sport as a tool for peace and human development as young leaders are solely responsible for planning, implementing and delivering Peace and Sport festivals in several communities.”

CYPRUS

#WhiteCard for friendship and cooperation in Cyprus

This year, the Peace and Sport #WhiteCard campaign was launched at the Friendly Football Day, an event organized in partnership with the Stelios Philanthropic Foundation, which united Turkish Cypriot and Greek Cypriot communities in the bi-communal village of Pyla, Cyprus.

More than 1,000 children - Pyla residents, football fans, and athletes - had the opportunity to participate in football and karate activities to promote dialogue and respect in the presence of Peace and Sport's Vice-President, Didier Drogba and Champion for Peace, Laurence Fischer. Primary schools from both communities in Pyla were involved in the preparation and implementation of sporting activities, in a unique demonstration of bi-communal cooperation. Furthermore, the "Nea Salamina Amochostou" FC played the second half of the match in mixed teams with players from "Magusa Türk Gücü" FC. Later, a mini-twinning led by PeacePlayers paired mixed basketball teams from Dali and Nicosia.

A symbolical moment took place when Veysal Güden, representing the Turkish Cypriot community of Pyla and Simos Mitides, representing the Greek Cypriot community of Pyla joined Joël Bouzou, President and Founder of Peace and Sport, and Sir Stelios Haji-Ioannou, Founder of the Stelios Philanthropic Foundation, invite the international community to take part in the 2019 #WhiteCard campaign.

Sport as a driving force in Latin-America

Latin America has been a driving force in promoting and implementing sport for development projects in the region. For this reason, Peace and Sport and the Guatemala Olympic Committee joined forces a third time to organize the 3rd Peace and Sport Forum for the Americas.

To mark the occasion, Joël Bouzou, President and Founder of Peace and Sport spoke to 400 delegates including representatives from National Olympic Committees, NGO's and universities from Latin America. During the session "Sport as a catalyst for peace and development" he invited participants to name sports that foster the values of fair play, mutual respect, civic engagement and team spirit. As a side event, a Sport Simple workshop was organized for 120 young athletes and coaches from Guatemala.

The event enjoyed participation from UNESCO and Olympic Committees from Argentina, Jamaica and Spain.

Sport as a source of inspiration for Monaco youngsters

For the sixth year in a row, Monaco's Department of Education, Youth and Sport in collaboration with Peace and Sport, the Princess Charlene of Monaco Foundation, the APEM (Parent-Teacher Association of Monaco) and the CMA (Monegasque Anti-doping Committee) organized the Princess Charlene Rally. This event involved 400 high-school students from the Principality of Monaco for a day filled with sports activities, peace-building workshops and a drawing contest on the theme 'peace through sport'.

Additionally, Champion for Peace and 4x400m World Champion Marc Raquil and the Princess Charlene Foundation's Ambassador Kevin Crovetto gave an inspiring conference to share their experiences and to motivate pupils to use sport as a tool for social change.

On this occasion, 450 officials, volunteers and students raised a #WhiteCard to show their support for the peace-through-sport movement

New technologies for sport and peace

For the first time in the 10-year history of the World Summit on the Information Society (WSIS) Forum, a new approach was introduced to explore the ways that information and communication technologies (ICTs) can advance sport for development. Sylvia Poll, Champion for Peace and Head of the Project Support Division in Telecommunications Development, led the panel "Sport as an enabler of SDG".

Peace and Sport together with Eleven Campaign joined the debate alongside the International Olympic Committee, the Olympic Refugee Foundation, UEFA, UNESCO, ILO, WIPO, the Real Madrid Foundation, the World Taekwondo Federation and the Centre for Sports and Human Rights to share their experiences, challenges and examples of how they are using ICTs in an innovative way to promote sport for development and peace. The debate ended with a memorable #WhiteCard photo of delegates and a virtual reality animation of the Friendship Games.

'Riders for Peace' stand together in Hiroshima

There couldn't be a more perfect location to celebrate peace than Hiroshima. Within this framework, Peace and Sport, in partnership with the Hurricane Group, officially closed the 2019 #WhiteCard campaign at FISE Hiroshima held in Japan on 19 April. For the second consecutive time, the two organizations joined forces to use urban sports to break down barriers and promote the #WhiteCard campaign.

The event held next to the Hiroshima Peace Memorial Park, the only structure that remained intact after the bombing on 6 August 1945, gathered spectators, international riders and officials to send a strong message of peace via the #WhiteCard campaign. In parallel, a 'Riders for Peace Challenge' attracted skaters from 6 - 26 years old of 8 nationalities for a Skateboard Ollie Contest, which finished with an outstanding final between KéChaud Johnson (USA) and Yamoto Kosuzu (Japan).

Zsolt Moradi

Zsolt Moradi Champion for Peace, Kick-Boxing World Champion and WAKO representative led an April6 celebration in the Zaatari Refugee Camp in Jordan. Moradi shared his inspiring experience with children in a series of kickboxing workshops for 200 young Syrian refugees. His workshops aimed at promoting respect and self-confidence. In parallel, Peace and Sport organized Sport Simple activities fostering positive values such as team spirit, acceptance, equality and dialogue.

This Peace and Sport event was organized in partnership with the Jordanian NOC, the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), IRD Bluemont, the International Kickboxing Federation (WAKO), the International Table Tennis Federation (ITTF), the International Cheer Union (ICU) and the International Table Soccer Federation (ITSF) as part of the Live Together Program.

MEMORABLE INITIATIVES

GEORGIA

Georgia inspires national change through sport

To mark its sixth April6 participation, the Georgia's Ministry of Education, Science, Culture and Sport organized a massive national mobilization to gather Georgian citizens and promote peace through sport.

The Ministry led an active dissemination campaign of information through national television channels and radio stations. Both Olympic champions and famous athletes from different Georgian regions contributed to this mediatic call for April 6, such as Lasha Talakhadze (Weightlifting Olympic Champion and seven-times world record). Thanks to these operations, around 4 100 000 TV spectators were reached and more than thousand people joined the #WhiteCard campaign.

In addition, the Ministry and Sports Federation organized more than 15 events taking place in 13 municipalities and using at least 25 different sports. For instance, a seminar was dedicated to April6 enabling to present to 30 national sports organizations the whole mobilization, a public April6 festival gathered over 1200 people in a central park of Tbilisi. Another example is the performance of the Buckswood's school pupils who depicted a map of Georgia with #WhiteCards.

MEMORABLE INITIATIVES

The Vatican Holy See spreads a global message of peace

In a symbolic demonstration of support for the International Day of Sport for Development and Peace, His Holiness Pope Francis highlighted the important role that sport can play in bringing people together and called for global mobilization on April 6, during his weekly Catechesis delivered to thousands of pilgrims in St. Peter's Square in Rome.

Prior to that, Sport at the Service of Humanity (SSH) dedicated its March monthly newsletter to promote April 6 and highlighted how sport can foster respect among people. The SSH initiative was created following "Sport at the Service of Humanity: The First Global Conference on Faith & Sport" held at the Vatican City State in October 2016, led by H.H. Pope Francis.

Finally, on the eve of the iconic 2019 Rome Marathon, on 6 April the "Athletica Vaticana" sports association welcomed athletes and marathon runners to a "Marathon Mass" in the Basilica of Santa Maria in Montesanto. In an intense moment of spirituality, participants joined the #WhiteCard campaign inside the Basilica and in the famous Piazza del Popolo to spread a global message of peace and solidarity through sport.

Badminton World Federation

The Badminton World Federation staged a charity coaching clinic for underprivileged children living in orphanages in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. This Shuttle Time activity provided a fun and learning experience for the young participants and helped to foster inclusion and social cohesion. Badminton players from around the world raised a #WhiteCard to celebrate sport as universal language and its capacity to empower communities.

International Hockey Federation

The International Hockey Federation celebrated the IDSDP by showcasing the work carried out by the hockey community to promote peace and development across the globe. On 6 April, before the start of the Argentina vs Great Britain FIH Pro League games, the men's and women's captains of both teams sent a message to all athletes and spectators, stressing the power of sport to bring people together and promote diversity and inclusion.

International Surfing Association

The International Surfing Association once again mobilized the global surfing community to celebrate April 6. Surfers from all five continents shared stories about the constructive role that surfing plays in their communities, and raised a #WhiteCard to highlight surfing's power to unite, heal and create positive social change.

International Table Tennis Foundation

The International Table Tennis Federation and the ITTF Foundation led a record-breaking mobilization, with more than 850 events organized in 104 countries, focusing on the power of sport to bring people together and foster social inclusion. The flagship event, organized together with "Slum Ping Pong" in Kampala, Uganda, promoted the use of sport to break down barriers and develop positive messages on children's and women's rights.

World Taekwondo International Taekwondo Federation

The World Taekwondo and the International Taekwon-Do Federations showcased the power of sport to promote peace on the 25th anniversary of taekwondo being included in the Olympic Program. The two organizations held joint demonstrations in emblematic venues such as the Olympic Museum in Lausanne and the United Nations Office in Geneva to celebrate their growing collaboration and to send a strong message about taekwondo's power to teach values that transcend sport. Taekwondo athletes from all over the world raised a #WhiteCard, sharing their support for the peace through sport cause.

Fédération Internationale de Teqball

The International Teqball Federation celebrated April 6 during the "Eurovillage" organized by the European Union and EU Member States in Islamabad, Pakistan. All visitors were invited to discover Teqgames and the positive values they transmit. The participants also united for symbolic #WhiteCard pictures, highlighting the power of sport to foster dialogue and peace. Two Teqball tables were donated to the local community as a legacy to this meaningful event.

OLYMPIC COMMITTEES IN FAVOUR OF PEACE

The Barbados Olympic Association Inc

The Barbados Olympic Association once again took part in April6 celebrations by organizing two workshops focused on Youth Development and Community Leadership as well as a Multi-Sport Rally aimed at promoting the values of friendship, excellence and respect. Sixteen communities across Barbados also took part in a Football Tournament.

Deutscher Olympischer Sportbund / German Olympic Sports Confederation

The German Olympic Sports Confederation (DOSB) celebrated the IDSDP by organizing Sport4Peace Festivals together with its partners in Jordan, Botswana, Kosovo, Colombia, Bolivia, Turkey, and Gambia to demonstrate how sports can be used to foster social cohesion, psycho-social health, education, and gender equality. In Uganda, a Sport4Development seminar for sports officials was followed by activities for children showcasing the impact of sport on development and peace. In its international activities, DOSB works closely with the German Development Cooperation (BMZ/GIZ), the Federal Foreign Office as well as with NOCs, NFs, IFs, and civic organizations in respective countries.

Kosovo Olympic Committee

The Kosovo Olympic Committee showed its commitment to promote sport as a tool for peace by organizing a Sports Festival in Pristina. 2,700 pupils from 54 nursery schools and kindergartens participated in several sports activities. A symbolic Olympic flame was also lit to recall the values of Olympism: friendship, respect and solidarity.

Pakistan Olympic Association

The Pakistan Olympic Association celebrated the IDSDP by opening the 72nd edition of the Punjab Games with a huge #WhiteCard parade. More than 5000 athletes, coaches, officials, government representatives and community members took part in this mobilization and raised a #WhiteCard to show their support to the peace-through-sport movement.

Romanian Olympic and Sports Committee

The Romanian Olympic Committee participated in IDSDP celebrations by organizing a workshop with more than 100 children from several schools, allowing them to practice various Olympic disciplines in the presence of Romanian Olympic Champions. To close this meaningful day, all the participants raised a #WhiteCard and showed their support to the peace-through-sport movement.

Russian Olympic Committee

The Russian Olympic Committee significantly celebrated April6 by mobilizing the whole Russian sport community around the #WhiteCard symbol. From young athletes to famous champions through schools and clubs, everyone showed their support to the IDSDP by raising a #WhiteCard and endorsing the power of sport to promote dialogue, social development and inclusion.

MEXICO

This year, Mexico has done a noteworthy and national mobilization around the #WhiteCard campaign. The Iberoamericana University as well as the Mexican Council for Professional Sport (COMEDP) invited its member, which included the Mexican Football Federation, the Mexican Baseball League, the National Basketball League, the Association of Mexican Olympians and Medallists and the World Consejo Boxing, to spread the message of the campaign in all corners of the country. To mark this occasion, famous athletes from a variety of sport, journalists and influencers raised their #WhiteCard to stand against bullying and discrimination in sport.

VENEZUELA

The Venezuelan Olympic Committee joined the April6 celebration through the 'Connect2 for Peace Project'. The project led by the Olympic Digital Community went viral on social networks and strengthen the 2019 #WhiteCard campaign. The social media mobilization consisted in a post every 5 minutes from 06:00 am until 06:00pm from Olympic athletes, sport clubs and national federations. In parallel, a Sport Simple and a peacebuilding workshops were held at the VOC headquarters. A peace walk even took place at the Waraira Repano Sabas Nieve Park.
